Profile

I am a self taught Jr. Front End Developer with a tenacious work ethic. I have spent the past 8 months pivoting my career towards web development after years in sales and the Military.

I have dedicated countless hours to understanding HTML, CSS Javascript, jQuery, SASS, and Git. Now I am looking to become a full time developer in the Seattle Area with the hopes of learning and developing an up and coming tech company.

Skills

- Proven ability tackle projects head on
- Knowledge of when and how to ask proper questions
- Ability to think quickly and make smart rational decisions based on complex situations
- I enjoy a challenge and thrive on the daily challenges development provides
- Extremely coachable and respond well to criticism
- Highly developed skills in small unit leadership problem solving
